

SBI posted a ~6% beat on PAT at Rs192bn/1.1% RoA, led by higher other income (especially treasury gains) and controlled opex, partially offset by higher provisions. Credit growth remained well above the system's at ~12% YoY, led by healthy growth in the retail and MSME segments, while corporate growth moderated due to higher pre-payments (Rs120bn). The management believes that the healthy pipeline on project financing, coupled with expected acceleration in mortgages in 2H, should support overall credit growth at ~12% with upward bias in FY26E. Margins could correct a bit in 2Q albeit improve in 2H, benefiting from the CRR/deposit rate cut and the recent capital raising with exit NIM at 3%. We largely retain FY26-28E earnings and expect the bank to deliver a healthy RoA of ~1.0-1.1%/RoE of ~15-17%. We maintain BUY with TP at Rs975 (valuing the SA bank at 1.2x Jun-27E ABV/subs at Rs270/sh).

Healthy growth; relatively resilient margins

SBI reported in-line credit growth of ~12% YoY/0.8% QoQ, driven by healthy momentum in the retail and MSME segments. The corporate book, however, witnessed moderation due to higher pre-payments (Rs120bn) and a shift toward market instruments (Rs160-180bn). In Xpress Credit, the bank had slowed down growth, to curb over-leveraging among low-income borrowers; however, growth should resume with better profiles and underwriting filters. Similar to most PSBs, NIM contraction was limited to 10bps QoQ at 2.9% due to higher CoF, in turn led by contraction in CASA deposits. However, the management expects the NIM trajectory to be U-shaped, moderating in Q1 and Q2, and improve from 3Q, benefiting from deposit rate/CRR cut and the recent capital raise. Ahead, the bank projects credit growth of ~12 (with upward bias), led by corporate credit growth at 10-11% and MSME growth at 19-20%.

Seasonally higher agri slippages

Gross slippage was elevated to Rs84bn/0.9% of loans (of which Rs15.9bn has been recovered) due to higher seasonal agri slippages, leading to flattish GNPA ratio at 1.8%. The management indicated that it remains watchful of any potential impact of ongoing trade disruption on its corporate/SME portfolio, although it does not expect any blow out scenario. Similarly, the stress in Xpress Credit has largely peaked and the bank should thus resume lending in this segment. On the corporate front, the bank expects recovery momentum to continue, leading to steady decline in NPAs and thus lower credit cost.

We retain BUY with unchanged TP of Rs975

We remain positive on PSBs in general (including SBI), due to their improving growth trajectory, margin resiliency, and better treasury gains/NPA recoveries which should support their decadal best RoAs. SBI too will be participating in this story; hence we retain BUY with unchanged TP of Rs975, valuing the standalone bank at 1.2x Jun-27E ABV and subs/investments at Rs270/share.

Key Concall takeaways

Outlook on loans, deposits, and NIM

- In Xpress Credit, the bank addressed over-leverage among low-income borrowers, including government employees, by temporarily pausing certain segments last year. With improved NMI-EMI profiles, these segments are being reactivated. The product, largely a rollover facility, sees high repayments, with average tenures of 2-3 years despite sanction periods of 6-7 years.
- The process has been fully reoriented and digitized, though stabilization has taken time, and some areas still require physical documentation. Restrictions in the defense sector also impacted on growth, contributing to a temporary slowdown. However, Q2 is expected to see good developments in Xpress Credit.
- Corporate growth has partly shifted toward market instruments, with working capital utilization declining from 62% to 58% YoY, as large corporates increasingly opt for CPs. The management expects 10-11% corporate growth.
- In corporate credit, significant pre-payments occurred on fully disbursed loans, amounting to Rs120bn in Q1, while Rs160-180bn moved toward commercial papers. The pipeline of Rs7.2trn in sanctions and proposals should support double-digit growth.
- Government capex has good visibility, with possibility of further enhancement. Infrastructure loan enquiries are strong, including green hydrogen and thermal power projects.
- CRE/LRD loans and premium housing in Mumbai are also seeing more interest, although some players have put projects on hold. Mortgage loan sourcing activity is high, with strong application inflows.
- Loan book composition – MCLR: 30.7%, EBLR: 30.2%, T-bills: 15.9%, fixed rate: 22.6%.
- The NIM trajectory is expected to be U-shaped, moderating in Q1 and Q2 before improving, as deposit repricing and CRR benefits aid margins. Expects margin of 3% in FY26.
- Some rate cuts on fixed deposits will start benefiting costs in the next quarter, with full impact in 8-10 months. The reduction in CASA has temporarily increased CoD, although this is expected to moderate.
- The CRR cut would release Rs520bn, aiding NIM support. Retail lending rates are expected to stabilize.

Asset quality

- In MSME lending, underwriting quality remains strong with no visible concerns. While Xpress Credit GNPA levels, in absolute terms, are largely stagnant, with no major asset quality concerns.
- Slippage includes Rs26.8bn in SME, Rs24.6bn in agriculture, and Rs26.0bn in personal loans plus Rs1.96bn in smaller accounts. Of this, Rs15.85bn has already been recovered.
- Recovery from AUCA accounts is around Rs20bn per quarter. The bank is confident of achieving its target without touching buffer provisions.

Others

- Tariff changes have had limited impact on the loan book. SBI has minimal exposure to the 4-5 impacted sectors. While direct sectoral impact is limited, broader uncertainties such as trade disruptions are a concern; quicker resolution is preferable. On the ground, no cost escalation has been observed.
- The bank has a couple of subsidiaries ready for listing, though it is in no hurry to proceed on this yet.
- The AFS reserve stands at Rs77bn, with some accretion during the period.
