

EVENING ROUNDUP

A Daily Evening Report on Bullion, Base Metals and Energy Commodities

Friday, November 8, 2024

- U.S. Federal Reserve slashed interest rates by 25 bps, taking benchmark rates to 4.50-4.75% .
- China kicked off a fresh round of fiscal support on Friday for its sputtering economy with a package that eases debt repayment strains for local governments, with Finance Minister Lan Foan signalling further stimulus in the pipeline.
- Gold prices fell today and are probably heading for a second straight weekly fall as traders assessed the impact of Donald Trump's presidency and implications of U.S. interest rates cuts.
- Crude oil prices fell nearly two per cent on NYMEX on subsiding risk of hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico significantly affecting U.S. oil and gas output. Traders also weighed on how President-elect Donald Trump's policies might affect supplies.
- Base metals on LME slid, with copper shedding over two per cent, after stimulus from China announced earlier today failed to cheer the market.
- US Weekly jobless claims increase 3,000 to 221,000 and Continuing claims rise 39,000 to 1.892 million this week, indicating no material change in the labor market and reinforcing views that hurricanes and strikes had resulted in job growth almost stalling in October.
- China's October imports of unwrought copper and copper products rose 1.1% yoy to 506,000 metric tonnes. For the first 10 months of the year, copper imports were up 2.4% at 4.06 million tonnes.
- Global primary aluminium output in September rose 1.3% year on year to 6.007 million tonnes, data from the International Aluminium Institute (IAI) showed.
- China's crude oil imports fell 9% in October, as a plant closure at a state oil refinery adds to weaker demand from independent refiners. October imports by the world's largest crude oil buyer amounted to 44.7 million metric tons, or about 10.53 million bpd. That was down from 11.07 million bpd in September and 11.53 million bpd in October 2023.
