

Mixed bag; awaiting industry headwinds to recede

Logistics ▶ Result Update ▶ November 15, 2024

TARGET PRICE (Rs): 475

Delhivery's performance in the PTL segment remains robust, although it continues to face headwinds in B2C owing to weak consumption trends and insourcing by Meesho. With the management alluding to a series of initiatives for sprucing up B2C volumes, we believe Delhivery's cost and tech advantages should help further bolster its market share. While service EBITDA margin contracted sequentially on account of network expansion in anticipation of festive demand surge, an imminent pickup in volumes in Q3 (October run-rate is up by over 25% vs the Q2 monthly average) along with declining capex intensity should bode well for the margin trajectory in coming quarters. Factoring in the miss on margins and the subdued environment, we cut FY26E/27E sales by 3%/5% and EBITDA by 6%/9%, respectively. We retain BUY while trimming Sep-25E TP to Rs475, based on DCF methodology.

PTL outshines, while B2C and margins disappoint

Revenue grew 13% YoY to Rs21.9bn, driven by the PTL, SCS, and Cross-border Services segments (up 27%/20%/44% YoY, respectively) in Q2FY25. The Express business grew 7% YoY, while Parcel volumes grew only 3% YoY and realizations per parcel improved 5% YoY. PTL revenue was up 27% YoY, continuing its growth trajectory despite seasonality, as volumes grew 23% YoY along with realization per ton increasing 4% YoY. SCS was the only segment that recorded sequential decline in revenue (-24%), owing to seasonality from consumer durables clients. EBITDA margin came in at 2.6% (Consensus: 4%), as COGS increased 14% YoY. Depreciation decreased 23% YoY due to change in the depreciation policy undertaken in the previous quarter, from WDV to SLM without changing the useful life and residual value of assets. This, coupled with other income increasing 18% YoY, led to PAT of Rs102mn. Business remains cash-surplus for the period ended Sep-24, at Rs54bn, and capex for H1FY25 stood at Rs2.4bn.

Outlook and risks

Given its agile and integrated network offerings, Delhivery has been able to garner lost wallet share in the PTL segment. But industry headwinds have caused the volume trajectory in the B2C segment to be muted. We remain circumspect of management commentary around the limited impact on volumes owing to insourcing, but draw comfort from initiatives planned for bolstering volume growth focused around faster regional deliveries on both—surface and air, rapid intra-city logistics (2-4 hour), premium tech enabled service offerings (reduction in RTO, address disambiguation), and physical franchise network for SMEs. Improving PTL volumes without sacrificing realizations and benefits of operating an integrated network should aid the margin trajectory, in our view. Strong net cash position and reducing capex intensity (5% in FY26) is likely to help the company ward off industry headwinds better than competition. Sep-25E TP is Rs475, based on DCF methodology (13% WACC, 5% terminal growth). Key risks: Slowdown in e-commerce due to quick commerce; operational risks due to dependence on contractual labor; pricing pressures in a fragmented market.

Call highlights

B2C Express and PTL segment

- Weakness in the express segment was recorded due to weak consumption trends and continued insourcing by Meesho. Management indicated that it expects growth to normalize and the B2C segment should incrementally see limited impact from insourcing.
- Festive season has already seen a robust print in Oct-24, with 78mn parcels (+26% ARR), followed by stable performance in Nov-24.
- Management is looking at adding products in the prime lanes/slots for air services as well as offer faster products for regional surface express.
- Management also suggested possibilities to cut down corporate overheads if growth in the express segment persists at 8-10% levels, and would take extensive measures at instances of any part of the business slowing down.
- Business will be venturing into adding brick and mortar centers similar to DTDC, to augment volumes. The main idea is to be able to tap into SME and micro-scale business setups that still rely on physical branch network.

Pilot Project

- Management introduced plans to start a new pilot project in Bangalore with a BPC customer: Third Party Intra city rapid product which would offer deliveries within 2-4 hours as well as allow customers to use its WMS and offer variable pricing to store products.
- Warehouses for the purpose of this pilot shall be similar to fulfillment centers, which would be completely integrated with Delhivery's Warehouse Management System (WMS).
- These warehouses shall be built over average area of 2.5-5k sqft.
- Management alluded to the pilot—if successful, it would venture into the NCR region with the project.

Others

- Management alluded to the SCS sequential decline to be on the back of seasonality and is already seeing increase in overall heavier package volumes. It stated that it would maintain focus on pushing heavy parcels more, specifically in all product categories above 3kg.
- Claim ratios have declined at a considerable rate, along with service levels (on-time deliveries) at 90% levels.
- Management also alluded to the benefits of not being exposed to higher concentration risk which is the case with other 3PL B2C operators.
