Crudeoil

KEDIA ADVISORY

6 August 2026

Technical Snapshot

BUY CRUDEOIL AUG @ 7100 SL 7000 TGT 7200-7300. MCX

Observations

Crudeoil trading range for the day is 6934-7396.

Crude oil dropped as investors grew increasingly optimistic that a deal to reopen the Strait of Hormuz could soon be reached.

As per reports, the US, Iran and Oman are close to a 60-day interim agreement to reopen the waterway without tolls.

Saudi Arabia reportedly held talks with Yemen's Houthi movement through Omani mediators in an effort to prevent the conflict from escalating.

Goldman Sachs said it expects Brent crude to remain in an $80 to $90 per barrel range until there is either confirmation of a new U.S.-Iran nuclear deal.

Natural Gas

KEDIA ADVISORY

6 August 2026

Technical Snapshot

BUY NATURALGAS AUG @ 254 SL 250 TGT 258-262. MCX

Observations

Naturalgas trading range for the day is 251.9-261.1.

Natural gas gains on short covering after prices dropped on expectations for weaker demand and milder weather.

Upside was capped amid record production levels and ample inventories, with storage volumes remaining above the five-year average

US Lower 48 gas production averaged a record 110.7 billion cubic feet per day in July, while flows to major LNG export facilities declined.

Forecasts pointed to moderating temperatures across much of the country in the coming weeks.

News you can Use

The RatingDog China General Services PMI declined to 50.4 in July 2026 from 54.1 in June, falling below market forecasts of 53.7. It was the slowest expansion in services activity since September 2024 as new business growth moderated for the second straight month, easing to a four-month low amid softer domestic demand. However, new export orders rose for the third consecutive month, supported by stronger overseas demand. Employment rose for the third consecutive month, though at a slower pace than in June. On the price front, input costs increased due to higher labour, raw material, advertising, and diesel costs. However, input cost inflation eased to a six-month low. The RatingDog China General Composite PMI fell to 50.8 in July 2026 from 53.6 in the previous month, marking its lowest reading since July 2025 and signaling a slower pace of expansion in private-sector activity. New business increased for a fourteenth consecutive month but expanded at the slowest pace since March, indicating softer demand.

Japan's S&P Global Services PMI Business Activity Index was revised lower to 51.2 in July 2026 from 51.9 in the preliminary estimate and after a final reading of 52.2 in the previous month. It was the second consecutive month of expansion in the services sector, though growth slowed as new business expansion eased to a 25-month low. Employment also increased more slowly amid signs of easing capacity pressures. Meanwhile, backlogs of work increased only fractionally, marking the weakest increase in 17 months. Japan's S&P Global Composite PMI Business Activity Index was revised lower to 52.7 in July 2026 from the flash estimate of 53.1 and edged lower from 52.8 in the previous month. Growth was uneven across sectors, with factory output posting its strongest increase since early 2014, while services activity expanded at a slower, more modest pace. New orders continued to rise but at a softer rate, although export demand strengthened further.
