Observations

Silver trading range for the day is 222665-229125.

Silver dropped amid increased pressure on the Federal Reserve to tighten policy further to curb inflation.

Fed's Williams said inflation faces significant challenges.

Markets are now pricing in roughly a 70% probability of a Fed rate increase in October.

Attention now shifts to this week's US economic data, including Wednesday's PCE inflation report and Friday's nonfarm payrolls figures.

Gold settled flat as investors watch for US economic data that could offer clues on the Federal Reserve's interest rate outlook. On the geopolitical front, US President Donald Trump said he had not offered Iran anything to end the war, rejecting media reports that cited US officials saying he was willing to ease sanctions and release frozen funds for "concrete" steps regarding Iran's nuclear programme. Investors are now looking out for key economic data, including Wednesday's ADP employment data and the PCE data, in addition to remarks from a number of Fed policymakers. Markets currently see a 68% probability of a Fed rate hike in October and a 95% chance of an increase in December, according to the CME's FedWatch Tool.

ASIA GOLD – Price pullback spurs modest gold demand in India - Gold demand in India picked up modestly as a correction in prices drew in buyers ahead of the festive season, while demand across other major Asian hubs remained largely steady. Dealers quoted a discount of up to $43 an ounce over official domestic prices, inclusive of 15% import and 3% sales levies, compared to last week's discount of up to $60. Discounts were high at the start of the week but narrowed as demand improved and jewellers began making purchases for the festive season. In Singapore gold traded at premiums of $1.70 to $2.50 this week. In Hong Kong premiums ranged from $1.70 to $2.00. In Japan gold traded between a $0.25 discount and a $0.5 premium.

China's August net gold imports via Hong Kong rise 4% month – on – month - China's net gold imports via Hong Kong in August rose more than 4% from July, Hong Kong Census and Statistics Department data showed, supported by firm investment demand. The world's biggest gold consumer imported a net 58.491 metric tons in August, compared with 56.193 tons in July, the data showed. China's total gold imports via Hong Kong were 77.137 tons in August, up more than 2% from July's 75.457 tons. China's central bank stepped up its gold purchases for a sixth straight month in August, adding the most bullion to its reserves since October 2023 and extending its buying streak to a 22nd consecutive month, official data showed earlier this month. China has continued to accumulate gold even as bullion prices have risen sharply this year.

Goldman Sachs kept its end-2027 gold price forecast at $5,400 per troy ounce despite the latest US interest rate increase - Goldman Sachs kept its end-2027 gold price forecast at $5,400 per troy ounce despite the latest US interest rate increase, saying tighter policy is likely to slow bullion's rally but not derail it. Goldman Sachs said in a note that it expects "the impact of tighter monetary policy to be felt primarily through a slower near-term appreciation path rather than a lower terminal gold price." Goldman Sachs said continued central bank diversification remains the main structural driver of its constructive gold view. It said a more hawkish Fed could trigger a sharper correction in gold, with prices potentially falling to around $4,070 if the US central bank delivers three more rate hikes this year and signals a higher terminal rate, before recovering to about $4,200 by end-2026 as continued central bank purchases support the market.

Swiss gold exports jump 65% in August as shipments to Britain surge - Swiss gold exports in August jumped 65% from July as shipments to Britain surged to their highest monthly level in seven years, Swiss customs data showed. Deliveries from Switzerland, the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub, to the UK rose last month to 102.1 metric tons from 39.5 tons in July. Britain is home to the world's largest over-the-counter gold trading hub. Supplies to China, a key bullion consumer, increased 20% month on month to 26.1 tons in August while deliveries to India, another major consumer, fell 58% to 3.5 tons, the data showed.
