

Q4 miss due to one-offs; outlook remains robust

Retail ▶ Result Update ▶ May 10, 2026

CMP (Rs): 4,509 | TP (Rs): 5,350

We maintain ADD on TTAN and TP of Rs5,350, as the 9% earnings miss in Q4 was due to high losses in international subsidiaries and a one-time bonus payout to employees for a stellar FY26 (~Rs2bn combined impact). TTAN reported robust Q4 topline growth of ~54% in the jewelry business (~50% LTL), though EBIT growth was ~40%, as margin was expectedly impacted due to the spike in gold prices. Encouragingly, recovery in buyer growth has enabled revenue growth pick-up (vs 9M trends), aided by an aggressive exchange program, introduction of accessible jewelry options (9/14/18 karat), and strong traction for its new gemstone collection 'Hues' at entry price points. Buoyed by India's growth potential, accelerating formalization, and superior brand trust, TTAN expects to deliver 15-20% topline CAGR over the next 5 years. Its domestic jewelry EBIT margin stabilized at 11.2% in FY26, despite an elevated gold price environment. Our FY28 estimates are largely unchanged, while we cut FY27E EPS by ~6% on factoring in geopolitical tensions in the ME and debt increase on the consolidation of Damas acquisition. TTAN does not foresee any major gold supply disruptions, due to the ongoing ME conflict. The stock currently trades at a discount to other discretionary peers, which should gradually narrow, in our view, with better or in-line execution (Exhibit 1).

Robust momentum continues; buyer growth turns positive

Standalone revenue grew ~41% YoY in Q4 (ex-bullion sales), led by 48% growth in the jewelry segment. Eyewear and Emerging businesses also delivered double-digit growth, at 16-21% YoY, while watches growth was slower at ~8%. Growth in the jewelry business was driven by higher ticket size (up ~40% YoY) and resurgence in buyer growth at 8% in Q4, improving significantly vs the flattish/declining trend in Q3/H1. The international jewelry business (ex-Damas) grew 42% YoY, driven by 65% growth in US operations, supported by network expansion. GCC operations also recorded healthy ~40% YoY growth, although momentum was impacted due to geopolitical tensions. The Watch segment saw slower growth, at ~8% YoY, while the Eyecare segment saw a customer-level growth of 15% YoY, led by double-digit ASP growth. Among subsidiaries, TEAL continued its strong momentum, with ~60% YoY growth. CaratLane's growth moderated to 22% (vs ~32% for 9M) largely due to temporary internal operational challenges, with trends already normalizing in April. Store additions have remained healthy in Q4, with addition of 12/14/6 Tanishq/Mia/CaratLane stores, respectively.

Margins remain key monitorable

Domestic jewelry EBIT margin (including CaratLane) at 11.1% was down by ~40bps YoY largely due to adverse product mix. EBIT growth of ~41% in Q4 was robust and among the best in the discretionary universe. The management highlighted that sustaining current margin levels could become challenging if gold prices continue to rise, although it is undertaking multiple initiatives, such as lightweight jewelry, 14k/18k jewelry, and mix re-engineering, to mitigate the impact. FY26 jewelry EBIT margin at 11.2% is near the mid-point of the guided band of 11.0-11.5%.

Earnings call KTAs

Gold prices/gold supply/margins

- On gold supply, the company is covered for Q1FY27, and its gold exchange program is also being run successfully since Q3. Titan does not foresee any increase in gold metal loan cost in the near term. Gold loan tenure has also increased from 180 days to 270 days.
- The company expects the first 2 quarters of FY27 to see some ASP benefit on account of higher gold prices. If gold rates remain stable, sustainability of margins would be easier. However, margins will be impacted if gold prices rise. Margin pressure is more from mix change and not from lower discounts.
- To keep the category exciting and accessible, exchange program, 18kt, 14kt, studded, grammage purchase plan, and lightweight jewelry are a few initiatives/activities that the company is taking to bring in consumers in this high-priced gold environment.
- Encouraging response to the gold exchange program led to accumulation of gold in the vaults. To manage inventory, Titan had higher bullion sales at Rs61.44bn (vs Rs8.64bn in Q4FY25).

Jewelry segment

- Buyer growth has seen resurgence in Q4, at 8%, led by advancement in wedding purchases and increase in footfalls. The company has seen buyer growth resurgence in the studded segment as well on the back of the 'Festival of Diamonds' campaign.
- Increased focus on gemstones is an effort to grow the category. Design seekers are growing in strong numbers and are looking for new expressions in gold jewelry. The company currently has 200 styles, of which 50% is in the price range of Rs40-250k, going up to Rs1mn.
- Redemption for the Riva golden advantage program started in Jan-25 at a national level.

International Business/Damas

- International business at operating level has become profitable on a full-year basis. The March month saw some challenges in the GCC region – not only for Damas but Tanishq's stores in the Middle East as well, and the situation remains unpredictable at this stage.

Watches and Wearables

- Analog watch sales grew 16% for the year. Smart and Analog combined grew 14% for the Watch segment. Analog watch mix stood at ~90% of the Watch segment.
- The Watch segment saw slower growth, at ~8% YoY, largely due to the 50% decline in smart-watch category, though the Analog watch category continued its double-digit growth, at ~15% YoY, aided by healthy growth in both volume and ASP.

Other segments

- Platform-level shift from legacy ERP to Oracle fusion created some operational challenges, which partially impacted CaratLane's Q4 performance.
- Eyecare division store closures are part of revamping the look and feel of the stores. Focus is on growing the topline, which was supported by higher marketing spends. Also, there was one-off inventory call back due to the slow movement of stock having an impact on margins.
- Taneira is undergoing a review of the way the company is managing the store operating model via merchandise change, price points, and customer value proposition. Work is underway to bring in buyer growth particularly in the sub Rs10k category.
- BeYon will expand initially to 10-12 stores in 2-3 cities and then will plan for a national launch. Current store count is at 2.
- The TEAL business has good tailwinds/opportunities in aerospace, defence, infrastructure, electronic chips, etc.
