BUY SILVER DEC @ 223000 SL 220000 TGT 227000-229000. MCX

Observations

Silver trading range for the day is 222715-228475.

Silver rose as softer-than-expected US PCE inflation data reduced expectations for a Fed interest rate hike this month.

The number of Americans filing for unemployment benefits fell by 1,000 to 197,000, below expectations of 200,000

Markets now see roughly a 38% chance of a Federal Reserve rate hike in October, down from 51% before the PCE release.

Fed's Williams said downside risks to achieving full employment have diminished.

Gold prices rose helped by a softer-than-expected US inflation report that lowered expectations of a Federal Reserve rate hike in October, although rising Treasury yields and a strong dollar limited further gains. Data showed US inflation rose less than expected in August, while price pressures were revised lower for the prior month. The data reduced expectations of a rate hike in October, with markets pricing in a 37% chance, down from 45% before the release. Traders, however, still see an 89% probability of an increase in December. Iran said it had received a US response to its latest proposal to resurrect the ceasefire in the Iran war, days after US President Donald Trump said he had rejected it. Cleveland Fed President Beth Hammack said, she is concerned that persistently high inflation risks conditioning the American public to accept elevated prices as the norm, adding the central bank cannot let that happen.

Asian gold demand improves as price pullback draws buyers - Physical gold demand in most key Asian hubs improved modestly as lower prices lured some buyers back to the market, though others awaited a steeper decline. Dealers quoted discounts of up to $14 an ounce over official domestic prices week, inclusive of 15% import and 3% sales levies, compared with last week's discounts of up to $43. Indians will celebrate Dussehra festival this month, and Diwali in early November, when buying gold is considered auspicious. In top consumer China, bullion traded at premiums of $5 to $10 an ounce to the global benchmark price. In Singapore, gold was sold between a $1.5 discount and a $1 premium this week, while in Hong Kong it traded between a discount of $1.5 and a premium of $0.5. Meanwhile, in Japan, gold was sold between a $0.25 discount and a $0.5 premium.

China's August net gold imports via Hong Kong rise 4% month – on – month - China's net gold imports via Hong Kong in August rose more than 4% from July, Hong Kong Census and Statistics Department data showed, supported by firm investment demand. The world's biggest gold consumer imported a net 58.491 metric tons in August, compared with 56.193 tons in July, the data showed. China's total gold imports via Hong Kong were 77.137 tons in August, up more than 2% from July's 75.457 tons. China's central bank stepped up its gold purchases for a sixth straight month in August, adding the most bullion to its reserves since October 2023 and extending its buying streak to a 22nd consecutive month, official data showed earlier this month. China has continued to accumulate gold even as bullion prices have risen sharply this year.

Goldman Sachs kept its end-2027 gold price forecast at $5,400 per troy ounce despite the latest US interest rate increase - Goldman Sachs kept its end-2027 gold price forecast at $5,400 per troy ounce despite the latest US interest rate increase, saying tighter policy is likely to slow bullion's rally but not derail it. Goldman Sachs said in a note that it expects "the impact of tighter monetary policy to be felt primarily through a slower near-term appreciation path rather than a lower terminal gold price." Goldman Sachs said continued central bank diversification remains the main structural driver of its constructive gold view. It said a more hawkish Fed could trigger a sharper correction in gold, with prices potentially falling to around $4,070 if the US central bank delivers three more rate hikes this year and signals a higher terminal rate, before recovering to about $4,200 by end-2026 as continued central bank purchases support the market.

Swiss gold exports jump 65% in August as shipments to Britain surge - Swiss gold exports in August jumped 65% from July as shipments to Britain surged to their highest monthly level in seven years, Swiss customs data showed. Deliveries from Switzerland, the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub, to the UK rose last month to 102.1 metric tons from 39.5 tons in July. Britain is home to the world's largest over-the-counter gold trading hub. Supplies to China, a key bullion consumer, increased 20% month on month to 26.1 tons in August while deliveries to India, another major consumer, fell 58% to 3.5 tons, the data showed.
