Banking sector grows, unsecured loans a risk

A State Bank of India (SBI) research report has pointed to the sharp increase in unsecured loans and continuing concentration of deposits and credit in top 10 districts as potential risks to the banking system after analyzing data from the sector in the last two decades, as per ET. The report also said that though both banking deposits and advances have expanded manifold over two decades, banks are dependent on a limited number of districts across the country for these key ingredients. "Sharp rise in unsecured lending raises risk sensitivity...Unsecured advances expanded from Rs 2 lakh crore to Rs 46.9 lakh crore, with share rising to 24.5% in FY25 from 17.7% in FY05 underscoring potential credit risk accumulation," the SBI research team led by chief economic advisor Soumya Kanti Ghosh said. Run-up in stock limits upside HCL Technologies (HCLT IN) reported better-than-expected Q3 on revenue and margin fronts. The beat was led by better-than-expected performance in its product business (Q3 is seasonally strong). However, some part of the uptick in the products business was likely from one-time tactical license revenues, which may not sustain, going forward. Strong Q3 led to HCLT increasing its revenue growth guidance for FY26 from 3% to 4% at the lower end, but guidance at the upper end has been trimmed by 50bps to 4.5% from 5% earlier, indicating a 1.2-3% sequential drop in Q4. The EBIT margin guidance has been maintained at 17-18%. HCLT indicated that demand environment has not changed much, but some pockets (BFSI) are seeing improvement. We raise our TP to INR 1,500 on 21x (unchanged) FY27E P/E. However, we revise HCLT to SELL from Reduce given that run-up in the stock price limits upside.

Strong deal momentum: HCLT reported revenue growth of 4.2% QoQ in CC terms while revenue was up 4.8% YoY CC at the company level. IT services (72.3% of the mix) reported 1.5% QoQ and 3.8% YoY growth in CC. ER&D posted a 3.1% QoQ CC rise, and Product (P&P) was up 28.1% QoQ in CC terms. Vertical-wise, YoY in CC, BFSI, Tech, Public services and Telecom reported growth in the range of 7.1-14.4%, Manufacturing was up +1.8% YoY CC, while Lifesciences and Retail CPG reported a decline. Broad-based growth was seen across geographies YoY in CC, with Europe market up 4.6%, and the US market growing 1.5%. HCLT recorded a new deal TCV of ~USD 3bn in Q3FY26, up 17% QoQ and 43.5% YoY. Advanced AI posted revenues of USD 146mn in Q3FY26 (3.8% of revenue), up 19.9% QoQ CC. Interim dividend of INR 12/share was announced in Q3, with a payout ratio of 80%.

Margin expansion led by seasonality in P&P: Q3 operating margin, excluding the one-time impact of the new labor code, was 18.6%, up 111bps QoQ. Excluding restructuring costs, margin was 19.4%. Product business helped margin expansion by 118bps while Services margin declined 7bps QoQ (primarily due to wage hikes (80bps), furlough seasonality (45bps) and Restructuring costs, which hit margins by 26bps in Q3 but partially offset by utilization gains (104bps) and currency benefit (40bps). HCLT reiterated its full-year EBIT margin guidance of 17-18%, which factors in restructuring costs but excludes the impact of labor code.

Revise to SELL; TP raised to INR 1,500: Q3 revenue and margin were in line with typical seasonal patterns in the products business, which lifted performance. However, despite strong Q3, HCLT cut the upper end of its guidance by 50bps, indicating weak Q4. Also, uptick in Q3 for the product business was led by tactical license revenues rather than sticky subscription revenues, which may not be sustainable in our view. Margin pressure may continue due to new AI skills coming at higher costs. So, we reduce our FY27E/FY28E margin estimates by 10bps / 80bps, respectively.

We increased our TP to INR 1,500 (on unchanged 21x FY27E EPS) from INR 1,445 to factor in strong Q3. We revise HCLT to Sell (from Reduce) as the stock has run up ~20% in past 3-4 months and valuations appear full. The stock is trading at 12-13% premium in FY27E to Infosys despite similar earnings growth of 5-6% over FY25-27E, which appears unreasonable in our view.

Conference call highlights

- ▶ HCLT raised its FY26 company-level revenue growth guidance to 4-4.5% in YoY CC (up from 3-5% YoY CC), while services-level growth guidance was increased to 4.75-5.25% YoY CC (up from 4-5%). This does not include contributions from three recent acquisitions – Telco Solutions Business from HPE, Jaspersoft, and Wobby.
- ▶ Macro outlook: Management highlighted that despite ongoing global macro uncertainty, AI-linked tech spending is resilient, with GenAI, Physical AI, and AI Factory emerging as clear pockets of strength. While traditional discretionary spending is slow and clients remain cautious on legacy transformation budgets, HCLT is seeing strong traction in AI-adjacent spend such as data, infrastructure, and engineering services tied to AI rollouts. HCLT emphasized that instead of waiting for a cyclical recovery in discretionary IT budgets, it is proactively capturing growth in the areas where new spending is actually occurring.
- ▶ Segment-wise commentary: Growth was led by Financial Services and Technology verticals, supported by strong demand for data, engineering and AI-led modernization. Manufacturing growth was aided by strength in aerospace & defense, though management highlighted continued softness in traditional industrial manufacturing and noted early signs of stability in auto. Retail & CPG surprised positively driven by ramp-up of prior wins, while Public Services on steady government spending. Healthcare and telecom remained steady, with telecom expected to improve structurally following the HPE Telco Solutions acquisition.
- ▶ AI moving to monetization: HCLT noted that AI engagement has matured significantly versus a year ago. Earlier discussions were centered on isolated GenAI pilots and point solutions with clients still assessing ROI and focusing on prerequisite data and cloud foundations. In the past year, this has shifted to holistic, enterprise-wide AI transformation agendas. While this broadening has elongated decision cycles, it has substantially deepened strategic engagement. Near-term adoption remains the strongest in software development and data lifecycle modernization, while spending is increasingly directed toward foundational AI infrastructure.
- ▶ Strong deal momentum with four large deals signed in Q3FY26, including a USD 473mn, five-year mega deal, marking the strongest ACV performance in four years. Management noted that all four of the largest deals closed in the quarter were led by AI-driven value propositions.
- ▶ HCL Software delivered a strong growth, supported by seasonality and continued traction in the data intelligence portfolio, particularly Actian, which remains one of HCLT's top three product lines. Management highlighted growing demand from clients seeking sovereign, non-public-cloud-based solutions, which contributed to a modest uptick in perpetual license revenue, driven by one large client insisting on a sovereign perpetual model, though the broader strategy remains firmly focused on shifting customers to term and subscription agreements.

Tata Consultancy Services

India | IT Services | Result Update

13 January 2026

Steady quarter

Tata Consultancy Services' (TCS IN) Q3FY26 revenue was a tad better than our expectations, led by some improvement in its international business. TCS expects FY26 international revenue to be better than FY25 level, on gradual uptick in demand. Recovery in international markets is likely to be driven by AI-led short-cycle projects and broad-based AI adoption across geographies. Discretionary spending may improve and offset soft revenue, going forward. Margin levers largely remain intact, supported by pyramid optimization, operational efficiencies, and ongoing workforce restructuring, though headwinds may likely arise from rising attrition. Maintain Accumulate with TP retained at INR 3,600.

Sequential revenue growth supported by international market: Revenue grew 0.6% QoQ in USD (0.8% QoQ in CC) and -0.4% YoY (-2.6% YoY CC) in Q3. In INR terms, revenue was up 2.0% QoQ/+4.9% YoY. Geography-wise, YoY growth was led by international markets, with North America up 1.3% and Latin America +1.4% YoY in CC terms. The UK reported a YoY CC drop of -3.2%, but on USD YoY basis, the UK was up 1.4%. Continental Europe was up 1.4% YoY CC, while Asia Pacific and MEA markers grew +3.5% YoY CC and +8.3% YoY CC, respectively. India market remained a drag on growth, down 34.3% YoY on CC basis, but up 8.0% QoQ.

Vertical-wise and on YoY CC basis, Consumer and Communication markets reported CC YoY drop of -2.7% and -1.6%, respectively. Regional markets declined 19.4% YoY CC, while all other verticals reported an expansion. TCS recorded a TCV of USD 9.3bn in Q3FY26, down 7% QoQ and 8.8% YoY, despite one mega deal in BFSI North America. Q3FY26 TCV for BFSI, Retail and North America was USD 3.8bn, USD 1.4bn and USD 4.9bn, respectively. LTM client metrics improved with two more USD 100mn+ clients in Q3. AI momentum remains strong with annualized AI services revenue reaching USD 1.8bn (6% of revenues), up 17.3% QoQ CC.

EBIT margin was flat QoQ: EBIT margin came in flat at 25.2%, excluding one-off items. A 50bps impact from wage increases and 50bps impact from marketing and partnership investments were offset by 80bps benefit from productivity, pyramid, and operational efficiencies, alongside a 20bps support from favorable currency movements. PAT for the quarter was impacted by one-offs : INR 2.5 bn towards restructuring expenses in Q3 (for 9 months it stands at ~INR 14 bn) , INR21.3 bn related to new labor code related impact and INR 10 bn towards provision for legal claim. Management also noted that ongoing restructuring in workforce may continue in Q4 while labor code related impact may be minimal. TCS reiterated its aspirational margin of 26-28%.

Maintain Accumulate with TP unchanged at INR 3,600: TCS's AI revenues witnessed higher traction, growing in mid-teens for two quarters, but non-AI revenue continued to be soft. We believe growth in both AI and non AI revenues is critical for any meaningful recovery in company growth. Uptick in attrition may keep cost elevated and margin strained in the near term. TCS is making conscious efforts regarding growth via initiatives – data center investments, acquisitions (execution is awaited). We retain our earnings estimates. We maintain Accumulate with TP unchanged at INR 3,600 on 26x FY27E P/E.

Conference call highlights

- Outlook: Management noted that the improving demand trend from Q2 continued into Q3, aided by stronger AI-led short-cycle projects with faster ROI-based decision making. Geography-wise, Europe delivered steady growth, while North America remained soft due to seasonality and furloughs. Management expects North America to recover on ROI-led AI project ramp-ups. TCS is confident of a stronger CY26, driven by solid deal momentum, quicker decision cycles, and broad-based AI adoption. The company also expects higher international growth in FY26 versus FY25, supported by a robust TCV pipeline tracking toward USD 38-39bn for FY26.
- Sector wise commentary: BFSI was seasonally soft due to furloughs but underlying momentum remained strong, supported by cost optimization, modernization in demand and rising AI adoption, reinforced by a recent megadeal win. Retail/Consumer saw sequential growth, led by retail and travel & hospitality, with international travel healthy though domestic demand and select fashion categories remained soft. Manufacturing grew marginally, as auto stayed weak, though investments in smart manufacturing, robotics and vision AI continued. Tech declined due to Q3 seasonality and sector-wide restructuring, though partly offset by rising AI infrastructure spend and ongoing SaaS optimization. Communications delivered growth on automation and AI-led modernization, while Energy remained strong amid the global shift to low-carbon systems.
- SG&A and one-off costs: SG&A rose meaningfully QoQ, led by higher legal costs (including M&A-related), CSR spend, and marketing events, with ~10-20bps of the increase classified as a one-off. Management reiterated its intent to gradually move toward the 26-28% aspirational operating margin band while continuing to invest in strategic priorities such as AI.
- TCS scaling its AI ecosystem via targeted M&A and partnerships. Key initiatives include a USD 1bn equity partnership with TPG to develop gigawatt-scale AI data centers, with anchor customers to be announced ahead of build-outs and revenues expected ~18 months post-construction. The recent acquisition of Coastal Cloud (pending approvals) strengthens Salesforce and AI consulting with ~500 experts and 3,400 certifications. Strategic partnerships with Microsoft, Google, and Nvidia continue to underpin AI-first client transformations.
- AI solutions scaling faster: Growth was led by AI & Data, Enterprise Solutions, IoT and Digital Engineering, and cybersecurity service lines, with a notable improvement in production-scale AI deployments through FY25, reinforced in Q3FY26. Client adoption is being accelerated via AI Innovation Days and Rapid Builds, compressing the innovate-to-build cycle by over 3x. Talent depth continues to scale, with >217,000 employees now equipped with higher-order AI skills, a 3x increase YoY.

- TCS has announced a dividend of INR 57 per share, including an interim dividend of INR 11/share and a special dividend of INR 46/share, with a total payout ratio of 193%.
