Gold rose as markets have their eyes on the geopolitical situation in the Middle East as well as talks between the U.S. and Iran that have started off in Oman. Meanwhile, US job cuts reached 108.4K in January, the highest for the month since 2009, while initial claims rose to 231K and ADP payrolls missed forecasts. The string of weaker labor data reinforced expectations for Federal Reserve rate cuts later this year, with markets eyeing a first move in June. On the geopolitical front, the White House emphasized that President Donald Trump prefers a diplomatic solution with Iran, signaling patience for high-level negotiations while keeping military options as a contingency.

India gold premiums more than halve; China demand up ahead of Lunar New Year - Gold premiums in India more than halved from decadal highs as price volatility deterred buyers, while a pullback from record prices lifted demand in China ahead of the Lunar New Year. Bullion dealers this week charged a premium of up to $70 per ounce over official domestic gold prices, down from last week's $153 premium, the highest since December 2013. In China, bullion traded at a premium of $35 an ounce above the global benchmark spot price this week, up from last week's $32 premium. In Hong Kong, gold traded at par to premiums of $1.70, while in Japan, bullion was sold at discounts of $7 to a $1 premium. In Singapore, gold was sold at a discount of $0.50 to premiums of up to $3.

China's Gold Market Shifts as Investment Demand Outpaces Jewelry in 2025 - China's gold sector saw notable shifts in 2025, reflecting changing consumer and investment behavior. Total gold output rose 3.4% to about 552 tons, supported by both steady domestic mining and a sharp increase in output from imported materials. While overall gold consumption slipped 3.6% to roughly 950 tons, the composition of demand changed significantly. Jewelry demand fell sharply as consumers favored gold bars and coins, which jumped more than 35%, signaling a clear move toward investment-led buying. This trend was reinforced by a surge in domestic gold ETF holdings, which climbed nearly 150% during the year. Meanwhile, China continued strengthening its reserves, adding nearly 27 tons of gold and extending its steady accumulation streak.

Global gold demand hits record high in 2025, WGC says - Gold demand hit an all-time high last year as jitters over instability and trade sparked a surge in investment, even as a series of record price peaks kept jewellery buyers from the tills. Global gold demand rose by 1% in 2025 to 5,002 metric tons, the highest number on record, the World Gold Council said. The WGC expects another year of strong inflows into gold-backed exchange-traded funds and robust demand for bars and coins. ETFs saw inflows of 801 tons of gold in 2025, while demand for bars and coins jumped 16% to a 12-year high. Overall gold investment demand soared 84% to a record high of 2,175 tons in 2025. However, the WGC expects record-high prices to hit jewellery demand this year and will slow down purchases by central banks to 850 tons from 863 tons in 2025, even though their buying remains elevated when compared to the pre-2022 level. Gold jewellery demand fell 18% in 2025, with buying in China down 24% at its lowest since 2009.

Gold exports from Switzerland up 27% m/m in December as deliveries to UK jump - Gold exports from Switzerland rose 27% month on month in December as shipments to Britain jumped to their highest since August 2019, Swiss customs data showed. Deliveries from Switzerland, the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub, to the UK, home to the world's largest over-the-counter gold trading hub, soared to 101 metric tons last month from 45 tons in November. Amid record-high prices, there were no deliveries to China in December, the data showed, while exports to India, another major bullion consumer, remained broadly steady – at only 1.9 tons.
