Margin resilience leads to a beat on profitability

Astra Microwave (ASTRA)'s FY26 results beat our estimates, fueled by better-than-expected margins. FY26 inflows increased 29% YoY to INR16.6b. Export inflows saw strong momentum in 4QFY26, driven by higher value-added RF systems and SDR-related opportunities. Going forward, key growth drivers include Uttam radar, QRSAM, Su-30 upgrades, EW systems, weather radars, and strategic space programs. The company continues to focus on IP-led and proprietary defense solutions for domestic and global markets. We increase our FY27/FY28 earnings by 7%/15% to factor in better margins and higher other income. We believe ASTRA's execution to ramp up beyond FY27 as these large ticket orders start getting finalized from 2Q-3QFY27. We reiterate our BUY rating with a revised TP of INR1,580 (earlier INR1,150), based on 40x Jun'28E EPS.

Strong margins lead to a beat on profitability

Revenue grew 20% YoY to INR4.8b, beating our estimate by 7%. Gross margin expanded 420bp YoY to 50.3%. This led to EBITDA beating our estimates by 39% at INR1.6b (+36% YoY), while margin expanded 400bp YoY to 33.3% vs our estimate of 25.7%. Due to higher-than-expected margin and other income, and lower-than-expected interest costs, PAT increased 44% YoY to INR1.1b (51% beat). For FY26, revenue/EBITDA/PAT increased 11%/24%/26% YoY, while EBITDA margin expanded 310bp YoY to 28.7%. Orders inflows increased 29% YoY to INR16.6b in FY26, taking the consolidated order book to INR26.1b. OCF/FCF stood at INR4b/INR3b in FY26 vs net outflows of INR1b/INR2b in FY25.

Defense pipeline remains strong

The defense segment revenue remained broadly flat YoY in FY26 at INR8.4b, while inflows increased 4% YoY to INR8.6b, taking the total order book to INR14.3b (+5% YoY). The business continues to scale across radar, electronic warfare, missile, and strategic electronics programs, with upcoming growth expected from large indigenous opportunities such as Uttam radar, QRSAM, Su-30 upgrades, and BEL-linked platforms such as Himshakti. The company is also expanding into next-generation technologies such as digital array radars, photonics radars, counter-drone systems, and miniaturized radar solutions. Over the medium term, rising indigenization and increasing defense procurement are expected to support sustained growth.

Meteorology segment continues to expand

The segment revenue grew 40% YoY to INR460m, while inflows increased 43% YoY to INR2b, taking the total order book to INR3.5b (+83% YoY). ASTRA has successfully executed multiple X-band, C-band, and S-band weather radar projects and expects larger production opportunities in the next 2-3 years, led by rising weather infrastructure deployment. The segment is also expanding into specialized applications such as bird detection and ground penetrating radars, which could support future growth and improve the scale of the business.

Space segment to benefit from repeat ordering

The space segment revenue increased 90% YoY to INR1b in FY26, while inflows stood at INR865m, taking the order book to INR1.9b. The segment continues to witness strong momentum driven by increasing participation in strategic satellite and ISRO-linked programs. During FY26, the company delivered critical subsystems for defense satellite programs and hardware for major ISRO missions. Going forward, repeat opportunities are expected to emerge from satellite constellation programs being planned by both ISRO and DRDO over the coming years. Though contribution to overall revenue remains moderate, the segment's margins are among the highest-margin segments within the portfolio.

Export to ramp up over the long term, fueled by Astra-branded products

Export revenue increased 48% YoY to INR1.6b, while inflows ramped up sharply in 4Q, leading to 720% increase on a low base to INR1.8b. The export business is shifting from low-margin offset-driven manufacturing toward co-developed RF systems, SDR programs, and proprietary subsystem exports with significantly higher value addition. This transition is improving both margins and the quality of export revenues, while the company increasingly focuses on Astra-branded strategic electronics and defense solutions for global markets. The company is also leveraging its MMIC and RF design capabilities to expand into global markets beyond internal and JV-led requirements. While exports are expected to become a more meaningful growth driver over the long term, the benefits are likely to scale up gradually as these opportunities mature.

JV performance and guidance

The JV business, particularly Astra Rafael Comsys (ARC), continues to witness strong momentum driven by SDR and communication system demand. ARC ended FY26 with an order book of ~INR6.3b after securing ~INR5.5b of fresh orders, while revenues stood at ~INR3.6b. While profitability was hit by USD2m forex-related provisions, the JV continues to support Astra's export targets. For FY27, the JV is targeting revenues of over INR6b with a pipeline of nearly INR12b. Its EBITDA margin is expected to improve toward ~18-20% levels over the medium term.

Guidance

The company is targeting an FY27 revenue of INR13-14b, implying ~15-20% YoY growth. This growth will be driven by stronger execution across radar, EW, missile, and space programs, along with higher production order contribution. Over the medium term, the company aims to nearly triple its revenue by FY30-31, supported by large strategic programs such as QRSAM, Uttam radar, Su-30 upgrades, and EW systems. The growth outlook is further supported by improving operating leverage, working capital efficiency, and cash flow generation, while annual capex requirements are expected to remain manageable at ~INR400-500m.

Demerger of the non-defense business

The company has proposed the demerger of its Space and Metrology businesses to create a sharper strategic and operational focus across segments. The restructuring is aimed at enabling dedicated management teams, improving governance and accountability, simplifying the corporate structure, and creating clearer investment propositions for stakeholders. Over the medium to long term, the company expects this move to support focused growth, better capital allocation, and improved operational efficiency.

Financial outlook

We raise our estimates for FY27/FY28 by 7%/15% to factor in inflow ramp-up, better margins, and higher other income. We thus expect the company's revenue/EBITDA/PAT to clock a CAGR of 20%/17%/30% over FY26-28. With margins to sustain at strong levels, we expect its RoE and RoCE to remain at comfortable levels of 16-19% by FY28.

Valuation and view

ASTRA is currently trading at 53.2x/40.5x/29.7x P/E on FY27E/FY28E/FY29E EPS. We reiterate our BUY rating on the stock with a revised TP of INR1,580 (earlier INR1,150) on roll forward to 40x Jun'28E EPS. We ascribe a higher multiple to better visibility of large ticket orders, QRSAM, SU-30 upgrades, Tejas-related orders, etc.

Key risks and concerns

Key risks include delays in awarding of larger platforms, lower-than-expected spending from the government on the defense sector, slower export momentum, and supply-chain-related constraints.
