News you can Use

Germany's economic weakness is casting a flattering light on France's relative resilience that belies the otherwise middling performance of the euro zone's second-biggest economy. The European Commission said the two economies were on diverging paths this year with Germany forecast to be in a recession with a 0.4% contraction and France expected to grow 1.0%. With weak construction and declining construction investment weighing on Europe's biggest economy, Germany's outlook was slashed from a previous forecast for 0.2% growth while France was upgraded from 0.7%. However, France's improved outlook stems in no small part from a particularly strong second quarter when the economy grew 0.5% thanks to exceptionally strong exports of aircraft and the delivery of an ocean liner, not to mention a boost from firms rebuilding inventories. The contrasting fortunes of the euro zone's two biggest economies can also be explained by tailwinds working against Germany and headwinds helping France. Germany's manufacturing-focused economy is struggling to adapt to being cutoff from cheap Russian gas and the rise of the electric vehicle, said Charles-Henri Colombier with the Rexecode economics think tank in Paris.

The Euro Area economy is likely to grow by 0.8% in 2023, which is lower than the previously projected 1.1% expansion, as persistently high inflation continues to exert pressure on consumption and the ongoing impact of tight monetary policy restrains economic activity, the European Commission's Summer 2023 Economic Forecast showed. Furthermore, this weaker growth momentum is anticipated to extend into 2024, with the GDP projection reduced to 1.3% from the earlier estimate of 1.6%. Among the largest economies in the bloc, Germany is expected to contract by 0.4% this year and then grow by 1.1% in 2024. Spain, France, and Italy are forecasted to expand by 2.2%, 1%, and 0.9%, respectively, in 2023, and by 1.9%, 1.2%, and 0.8% in the following year. In terms of inflation, the projection for 2023 stands at 5.6%, slightly below the May forecast of 5.8%. However, the inflation forecast for 2024 has been revised slightly higher to 2.9% from 2.8%, primarily due to increased oil prices.
