Technical Snapshot

BUY GOLD OCT @ 74800 SL 74600 TGT 75150-75350. MCX

Observations

Gold trading range for the day is 74100-75500.

Gold gained as prospects of less restrictive monetary policy and elevated geopolitical risks magnified support for safe-haven assets.

Fed's Bostic noted that inflation progress and labor market cooling have occurred faster than expected

Traders are now awaiting the PCE report and additional speeches from several Fed officials.

Gold's status as a safe haven was further bolstered by rising tensions in the Middle East, following Israeli strikes on Lebanon.

Gold gained as prospects of less restrictive monetary policy and elevated geopolitical risks magnified support for safe-haven assets. The significant rate cut by the Federal Reserve continued to enhance the appeal of the precious metal, along with indications that the Fed may implement another 50 bps reduction by year-end. Atlanta Fed President Bostic noted that inflation progress and labor market cooling have occurred faster than expected, suggesting a normalization of monetary policy sooner than previously thought.

Sky high rates keep Asian retail buyers at bay - Retail buyers in key Asian hubs shied away from gold purchases due to soaring prices, forcing dealers to offer deep discounts in top consumers India and China. In India, dealers offered a discount of up to $22 an ounce over official domestic prices, highest in nearly two months and up from last week's $13 discount. Chinese dealers offered discounts between $8.6-$10 over global spot prices, while in Hong Kong bullion was sold between $0.5 discount to $2 premium. Chinese demand remains lacklustre but prices are likely to continue rising, so people might have to eventually adjust to them and purchases might pick up by October-November. Gold was sold between $0.8 discount and $2.20 premium in Singapore. In Japan, dealers sold gold at par to $0.5 premiums.

Swiss August gold exports show no supplies to China, for first time in 3 – 1/2 years - China, the world's largest gold consumer, refrained from gold imports from Switzerland in August, for the first time since January 2021, customs data from the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub showed. The supplies from Switzerland to China completely dried up in August, after a steady decline in June-July, as rising spot gold prices kept Asian retail buyers at bay. In the absence of shipments to China, and despite higher deliveries to India, Swiss August total gold exports fell to the lowest since June. In India, demand received a boost from July's reduction of the state gold import tax to the lowest in 11 years.

China's gold demand expected to rebound as economic jitters spur buying - Gold demand in China is expected to improve in coming months as consumers adjust to higher prices, industry officials said, with economic uncertainty and concerns about currency weakness driving investment flows. A revival of demand in the world's top consumer of the precious metal could further support the rally in global gold prices, which hit a record high last week. In July, they stayed on the sidelines, but recently, investment demand has picked up again. Discounts are narrowing as demand improves. The rise has been fuelled by a number of factors, including the prospect of interest rate cuts in the United States, global geopolitical tension and increased buying by investors. However, new quotas issued to several Chinese banks in August are intended to help regulate the flow of bullion into the country.

China issues new gold import quotas after pause - Several Chinese banks have been given new gold import quotas from the central bank, anticipating revived demand despite record high prices. The new quotas, aimed at helping the People's Bank of China (PBOC) control how much bullion enters the world's leading consumer of the precious metal, were granted in August after a two-month pause largely due to slower physical demand in the wake of a bullish market. China's central bank held back on buying gold for its reserves for a third straight month in July and gold holdings stood at 72.8 million fine troy ounces at the end of last month. The PBOC was the world's largest single buyer of gold in 2023, with net purchases of 7.23 million ounces, according to the World Gold Council (WGC).
