Gold prices soared to a record high lifted by safe-haven demand amid renewed U.S.-China trade tensions and expectations of U.S. Federal Reserve interest rate cuts. U.S. President Donald Trump threatened to impose 100% tariffs on Chinese goods to the United States and announced new export controls on critical software by November 1, in response to China's curbs on rare-earth elements and equipment, Beijing defended its measures on Sunday as justified but stopped short of imposing additional levies on U.S. goods.

Festive buying props up demand in India; China muted in post-holiday trade - Physical gold demand in India held firm this week despite a record-breaking price rally, as jewellers and investors snapped up bullion ahead of key festivals later this month, while buying in China was subdued in post-holiday trade due to higher rates. In Hong Kong, residents rushed to sell everything from gold bars to rings to cash in on the record price rally. Indian dealers were quoting a premium of up to $15 per ounce over official domestic prices, up from the last week's premium of $9. Demand in top consumer China was lacklustre after a long holiday, with discounts of about $48-$60 an ounce being offered to lure buyers. In Hong Kong, gold was sold anywhere between a discount of $0.5 to a premium of $1, while in Singapore, gold traded between a discount of $0.5 to a premium of $1.30. In Japan, bullion was sold at par to a premium of $1 per ounce over spot prices.

Gold exports from Switzerland to China soared in August - Gold exports from Switzerland to China jumped 254% in August compared with July to their highest level since May 2024 and supplies to India rose, partly offsetting a slump in deliveries to the United States, Swiss customs data showed. The Swiss data showed that gold exports to China rose in August to 35 metric tons from 9.9 tons in July, while supplies to India, another major bullion consumer along with China, climbed to 15.2 tons from 13.5 tons. China's wholesale gold demand fell last month as investors directed their attention to equities, but imports to the country are supported by expectations that the wholesale demand would rise towards the end of September, Ray Jia, head of China research at the World Gold Council, said in a note. Gold exports from Switzerland, the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub, to the U.S. fell to 295 kg in August from 51.0 tons in July as some refineries paused shipments to the U.S. amid uncertainty about the country's import tariffs.

China's central bank buys gold in August for 10th month in a row - China's central bank added gold to its reserves in August, extending purchases of bullion into a 10th straight month, official data showed. China's gold reserves stood at 74.02 million fine troy ounces at the end of August, up from 73.96 million at the end of July. They were valued at $253.84 billion, up from $243.99 billion at the end of the previous month, according to data released by the central bank. Demand for physical gold in the world's largest producer, which is also a top consumer of the metal, was weak, due to high prices, with dealers offering discounts over the global benchmark to attract buyers.

The US has slapped tariffs on imports of one-kilo gold bars, in a move that threatens to upend the global bullion market and deal a fresh blow to Switzerland, the world's largest refining hub. The Customs Border Protection agency said one-kilo and 100-ounce gold bars should be classified under a customs code subject to levies, according to a so-called ruling letter dated July 31, which was seen by the Financial Times. Ruling letters are used by the US to clarify its trade policy. One-kilo bars are the most common form traded on Comex, the world's largest gold futures market, and comprise the bulk of Switzerland's bullion exports to the US. Switzerland exported $61.5bn of gold to the US over the 12 months ending in June. That same volume would now be subject to an additional $24bn in tariffs under Switzerland's 39 per cent tariff rate, which went into effect on Thursday.
