Gold fell off a record high early as the dollar moved higher, though safe-haven demand amid Donald Trump's tariff threats continue to support the metal. US data showed weaker-than-expected demand for services, suggesting economic activity could moderate in the coming months. Meanwhile, gold's safety appeal was further bolstered after Trump suggested the US could take control of Gaza and expressed interest in a new nuclear deal with Iran.

Asia Gold – India demand muted amid record high prices, eyes on budget – Indian gold demand remained subdued as prices surged to record levels, while trading activity in most other Asian hubs was muted due to the Lunar New Year holiday. Indian dealers offered a discount of up to $35 an ounce over official domestic prices, compared with last week's $38 discount. In Japan, bullion was sold between a discount of $3.5 to a premium of $1. Despite gold trading at higher prices investors are still looking for the chance to buy the dips. However, such high prices might impact the bullion's investment and physical demand. Markets in China and Hong Kong were closed this week for the Lunar New Year. Swiss customs data showed that gold exports from Switzerland to top consumer China slipped over 74% in December from November.

Gold demand up 1% in 2024, to remain supported by economic uncertainty, World Gold Council says - Global gold demand including over-the-counter (OTC) trading rose by 1% to a record high of 4,974.5 metric tons in 2024 as investment increased, the World Gold Council (WGC) said, adding that central banks sped up buying in the fourth quarter. Central banks, a major source of gold demand, bought more than 1,000 tons of the metal for the third year in a row in 2024. The National Bank of Poland was the largest such buyer, adding 90 tons to its reserves, the WGC, an industry body whose members are global gold miners, said in a quarterly report. In the final quarter of 2024, when Trump won the U.S. election, buying by central banks accelerated by 54% year on year to 333 tons, the WGC calculated, based on reported purchases and an estimate of unreported buying. Last year's investment demand for gold rose 25% to a four-year high of 1,180 tons, mainly because outflows from physically-backed gold exchange-traded funds (ETFs) dried up for the first time in four years.

China's 2024 gold consumption slumps 9.58% y/y as high prices cut demand - China's gold consumption in 2024 slumped 9.58% on the year to 985.31 metric tons, data from the China Gold Association showed, as high gold prices curtailed jewellery demand. Gold jewellery buying, which accounts for half of the total, plunged 24.7% to 532.02 tons, according to the data. Meanwhile, purchases of gold bars and coins, which typically reflect safe-haven demand, jumped 24.5% over the year to 373.13 tons, the association said. In 2024, China's gold output from domestically produced raw materials climbed by 0.56% to 377.24 tons, association data showed. Output of gold from imported raw materials increased 8.83% for the year to 156.86 tons, bringing China's total gold output last year to 534.11 tons, an annual increase of 2.85%.

China's central bank adds more gold to its reserves in December - China's central bank added gold to its reserves in December for a second straight month, following a resumption in November after a six-month hiatus, official data by the People's Bank of China (PBOC) showed. China's gold reserves stood at 73.29 million fine troy ounces at the end of December from 72.96 million troy ounces a month earlier. The value of China's gold reserves declined to $191.34 billion at the end of last month from $193.43 billion at the end of November. The PBOC paused its 18-month gold buying spree in May 2024, which had taken a toll on Chinese investor demand. The bank's decision to resume purchases could boost Chinese investor demand.
