BUY SILVER MAY @ 231000 SL 229000 TGT 233500-235000. MCX

Observations

Silver trading range for the day is 219580-241430.

Silver dropped as traders adopted a "wait-and-see" approach ahead of President Trump's Iran deadline.

With traders betting against rate cuts, the precious metal's safe-haven appeal has weakened, leaving prices subdued.

New orders for US-manufactured durable goods fell by 1.4% from the previous month to $315.5 billion in February of 2026.

US private employers added an average of 26,000 jobs per week in the four weeks ending March 21, 2026

Gold gained as markets braced for US President Donald Trump's ultimatum to Iran. The deadline demands Iran reopen the Strait of Hormuz and agree to a ceasefire, or face military retaliation. Yet, despite the looming threat, hostilities have escalated: Tehran reported explosions on Kharg Island and on the Yahya Abad railway bridge in Kashan, while vowing "beyond-the-region" retaliation if the US crosses its "red lines." Despite the geopolitical turmoil, gold remains 12% below its pre-conflict levels after suffering its worst monthly drop since 2008 in March. The Iran crisis has bolstered the US dollar and prompted traders to bet against Federal Reserve rate cuts, undermining gold's appeal. Meanwhile, China's central bank offered a rare bright spot, purchasing 160,000 troy ounces of gold in March, its largest addition in over a year, a move that could help shore up investor sentiment.

ASIA GOLD – Indian dealers charge first gold premiums in two months - Gold traded at a premium in India for the first time in two months, as softer prices boosted demand for the metal, while premiums in China ticked down slightly as buyers awaited a deeper correction. Dealers quoted discounts of up to $8 an ounce and premiums of $2 an ounce over official domestic prices, compared with discounts of up to $61 last week. In top consumer China, bullion traded at premiums of $12-$17 an ounce over the global benchmark price this week, slightly down from $14-$18 last week. In Hong Kong, physical gold traded at par to premiums of $1.80, while in Japan, gold was sold at par with spot prices. In Singapore, gold was sold at prices ranging from a $0.25 discount to a $1.80 premium per ounce.

Swiss gold exports drop 18% m/m in February - Gold exports from Switzerland in February fell 18% from the previous month to the lowest level since August as shipments to Britain and India slowed, Swiss customs data showed. Deliveries from Switzerland, the world's biggest bullion refining and transit hub, to the UK fell to 20 metric tons last month from 43 tons in January. The UK is home to the world's largest over-the-counter gold trading hub. Supplies to India, a major bullion consumer, slowed to 13 tons in February from 23 tons with bullion trading at a discount in the local market amid subdued demand.

China's January net gold imports via Hong Kong rose almost 69% from December - China's net gold imports via Hong Kong in January rose by 68.7% from December, Hong Kong Census and Statistics Department data. The world's top gold consumer imported a net 20.585 metric tons in January, up from 12.205 tons in December, the data showed. The Hong Kong data may not provide a complete picture of Chinese purchases because gold is also imported via Shanghai and Beijing. China's total gold imports via Hong Kong reached 36.544 tons in January, up 30.4% from December's 28.014 tons. Physical gold in China traded at premiums of $12-$13 an ounce above the global benchmark spot price this week as bullion's safe-haven appeal shone through after markets returned from the Lunar New Year holiday. Meanwhile, China's central bank extended its gold buying spree for a 15th month in January, data from the People's Bank of China (PBOC) showed this month.

Goldman Sachs sees gold prices to grind higher to $5,400/toz by end – 2026 - Goldman Sachs Group Inc. raised its year-end gold price forecast by more than 10%, reflecting growing private-sector diversification into bullion on top of already-strong demand from central banks and exchange-traded funds. The bank raised its December 2026 price target to $5,400 an ounce, from a prior forecast of $4,900, on the assumption that private investors who have bought gold as a hedge against macro policy risks will maintain these positions through the end of the year. Central-bank buying is expected to average 60 tons a month in 2026, with monetary authorities in emerging markets "likely to continue the structural diversification of their reserves into gold. Western ETF holdings, meanwhile, have increased by around 500 tons since the start of 2025, outpacing predictions based solely on US interest-rate cuts. Goldman expects a further 50 basis points of Fed easing in 2026.
